Note from our President:

As the meeting came to an order & the agenda went quick, the social distancing was in place & before I knew it the meeting voted adjourned, seconded, & all in favor.

Sitting here in my thinking chair I'm trying to remember what our next event will beJuly 23-25 Old Timers Reunion Horse Show & Pull at 1305 S. Missouri, Macon, MO it's off Hwy 63. The horse play events are Saturday late. Call Jody Moss for details.

We have many that are Pending Confirmation or canceled but please watch the MDHMA web page for updates or call the contact person.

Please remember "Our Horses & Mules Matter"

Looks as tho it's another touch & go hay season. Do we mow? If we don't should we have? When we do - will it rain? It says no but then it does & it gets so hot it's a crispy roll. Tedder, fluff & roll. Do we take the bales out of the pasture & if we don't it rains. As with the rest of the world just quarantine, it's cooler, less stressful & Rudy wants to play fetch.

Sunday, we went Clinton as it was our granddaughter Danika's birthday party. A BBQ & kiddos bounced on the trampoline while the sprinkler kept them cool. The neighbor brought over a dinosaur that shot water from its nose. Many of the adults did catch up on a year of there lives.

All of a sudden the sky opened up tons of water came crashing thru the tents causing them to collapse & rained on everything in its path. It was quite a site presents, food, people running for dry shelter. Presents wet, parents wet, food wet. After all dried off, we warmed all inside & out while it continued to pour at a high rate of speed. All in all, 6" of rain in Clinton, 5" in Leeton & 4" in Windsor. In Warrensburg, we had less than 2". Glad I finished the pasture that I was mowing & had nothing to rake with all bales under tarp.

Today rain, sun, rain & now here comes the sun. I think it is shop time today & another great day for social distancing & a quarantine kind of day.

In September 10-13, we have MO River Valley Steam Show - Boonville, MO

See you down the line

Note from our Vice President: Hello from the Eichmans

Not a lot happening around here except for putting up some hay.

Doyle and I did get our alfalfa at Hamilton mowed some Amish friends are going to rake and bale it.

Sunday the 20th our oats were cut and shocked; however I wasn't able to be there.

As of right now, the Northwest Missouri Steam and Gas Engine is having the show at Hamilton, MO on Aug 21-23. We will have some ground to plow maybe some mowing to do and hopefully several other horse and mule activities so come see our oats threshed.

Since the Macon show is still on I plan on attending it Saturday the 25th Neal is planning on bringing wagon and sled for feed team and obstacle course.

Weather permitting still planning mine and Cassie's plow day the first weekend of November

Greetings from the Holtgrewe's,

Well I believe that I am not alone in saying that I am ready to be DONE with 2020. I just finished updating the calendar everywhere and if I have to type Cancelled one more time, I am going to throw something!!! Other than that depressing news; I am back to the office, yes that is a good thing. Shelby has her driver's license; you have been warned. And we still have the milking goats & should have the 1st batch of soap cured and ready to sell next week. The cheese and milk are flying off the shelves. No, I am still not tickled with the idea but the kids are sticking with it and so I will survive. It is HOT, HOT, Hot this weekend so I write this while I watch the ponies consume hay and debate hosing them off; they are thoroughly enjoying 2020 and their lack of work as I just don't seem to have the motivation to harness them. Hopefully, we will find the ability to attend the few remaining events of 2020 and get to see some of you there also!

Happy Driving

Greetings from Bobby and Genny:

It's going to be a busy weekend, so will get this done now.

We have a family funeral so will miss the Director's Meeting tomorrow. Hope it's a good and productive gathering.

Bobby and Mike had a great time at Bruce Adam's Mowing at Hamilton, MO. Bobby has been meeting up with Doyle, Dave, and sometimes Larry and Val over there when they're doing farming stuff. He can't always take Lady and Joy, but always enjoys watching and visiting.

New Cambria School has posted their back to school plans. I really hate to not go back right away, but my age and allergies and low oxygen are not really a good thing to take a chance with. I'm not worried for me, but would hate to have the virus and not know it and pass it out to a student or staff member. So, I will probably just wait and see what the second semester brings. I will sure miss seeing those little people!

Bobby has sold our 3 Haflingers because he just didn't do anything with them. They went to 2 very good homes. Daisy, Della, and Gertie are actually getting used and loved by some young people. He has some nice harness to sell and we are planning to go to Mt. Hope,

We're hoping to see everyone soon and praying for the weather to cool down.

Stay safe and healthy!

Note from IL

Being patient is not our strong suit, missing plowing events has put our patience to the test. We were able to attend the Adam's mow day at Hamilton Missouri and so enjoyed seeing and hugging our friends. We sure did not observe social distancing. The weather was perfect, the food great and seeing our friends was wonderful. Bill's team had never mowed so it took them a little while to catch on but they did and he had a wonderful time. I know it did all of us a world of good just to get away and socialize with people and animals.

We took a trip to Jamesport to the Amish School Auction and met up with Doyle, Larry, Val and grandson, and Kevin. So nice to see some of our friends. What a sight to see all those wringer washing machines, brought back memories of helping Mom do the washing. Bill had his eye on the fancy cook stoves but decided the one he has is good enough. Row after row of machinery and treasures (aka plunder). I think there was something for everyone. It rained on Tuesday evening and therefore the grounds were a muddy mess, it put a slight damper on the first day of the sale but soon dried up and became very hot and sticky. The hot weather sure made the homemade ice cream a big hit along with a piece of homemade pie. We took in some of the local shops before heading for home.

Our blackberries are starting to ripen which means jam making is on the schedule. We went to Calhoun County to purchase peaches and after several tries we finally were able to purchase some. So the last few days I have been making peach cobbler and blackberry and peach jam. These will definitely taste good this winter.

We had heavy rains last evening so therefore it is mowing time again it seems like we just mowed yesterday, the white clover has been plentiful this year as well as the buckhorn. Luckily Bill and crew were able to put up the hay they had down before the rains came. He also baled some straw for ourselves and neighbors. Once the word got out that he was baling straw a lot of people wanted a few bales.

That is all that is happening here, hope everyone is staying safe and abiding by the guidelines, I know wearing a mask is an issue but I would rather be safe than sorry. Take care and hope to see many of you in the near future.

Keep those draft a movin'.

Greetings from Northwest Missouri!

So the pandemic continues to arrange our lives. I didn't realize how much lip reading I did until everyone started wearing masks. I knew I was half deaf from working around our hydraulic cattle chute for 40 plus years but now it really hits home.

Been hot here as I am sure it has been in your area also. My ground source heat pump system decided after 22 years of functioning that it was done. With so many factories being shut down parts & materials are back ordered, we here at my house are willing to swelter on. We are lucky that it usually cools off at night so it's not too uncomfortable to get some rest.

My tractor must have thought it needed some attention too because it also broke down...Not as costly or permanent but still aggravating on top of everything else!

Hope everyone had a safe and enjoyable July 4 th, I got to have all the sons and grandkids home for a week (daughter-in-laws too). Had the house all cleaned up with, clean sheets on the beds and a freezer full of food. In 2 hours-time, after their arrival it looked like a bomb had gone off in my house and it was wonderful! The pyromaniac son Seth from Texas aided by his four brothers put on a beautiful firework display. No injuries were suffered so all ended well. There are still a couple of things I can't find that I am sure a couple of toddlers had in their little hot hands. So, with company here I didn't get to attend the Jamesport school house sale. I did take up some things to sell the day before and got to see Bill and Celia there, always great to see them. I also missed out on getting to go with Larry and Doyle out to McCook, Neb to mow with Deb and Kevin and the Harness Hustlers. Larry took my team and they did really well, You might want to ask Doyle how his mules did. Guess they mowed really fast!

Am out of the Fjule business now. A gal in Ohio bought the yearling molly mule and a gal here in Missouri bought the 2 year-old john mule. Her family trains reining horses so it will be interesting to see how Diesel turns out. I will miss them but didn't really have the time to devote to them and it was embarrassing to find out they were smarter than me. I go tomorrow to pick up my 2 year-old Fjord Doc from my Mennonite friend, he starts my Fjords for me in the cart and then they come home to work. Take my team up to Jamesport on Tuesday to have farrier put shoes on as we are planning on going on wagon train ride in Iowa August 1-6. Think Doyle is going too.

My hay only got rained on once. Ended up with 21 big bales this year and bought 200 small bales. Was nice to have my old hay crew home to help and listen to all their memories of hauling hay when they lived at home for their folks and farmers all around the county. My sister was really glad they were here to do it as she and I did it last year by ourselves.

Larry having knee replacement surgery on August 13, hope it doesn't curtail our activities too much. He just needs to supervise and let me do the work. It's hard on him to watch and hard on me to listen.

If you are a raccoon fan you might want to skip the next paragraph. I have sent 8 (so far) to raccoon paradise. They dig up my flowers, destroy my bird feeders and leave nasty calling cards on my porches .AND they ate a litter of new kittens, that was the last straw! I had heard of a deadly raccoon cocktail but was afraid to use it for fear my barn cats would try it. But a certain lady from Illinois (not naming names so she won't be an accomplice) said that cats wouldn't drink it. So, I mixed some up and left the deadly treat out for the raiding bandits. Well they love it and they go to their happy hunting ground very quickly. However, they crawl under a potting shed I have in the backyard for their final resting place. I didn't realize this until the odor and blow flies alerted me to their location. and keep in mind it's been very hot and the shed is very low to the ground. Face masks are not only good to avoid COVID-19. They help to keep blow flies off your face too. You can put Vicks in your nose to help deflect the odor too. I have a long-handled rake that I try to drag them out with but sooner or later you just have to grab a hold of a leg or tail and crawl out with your stinking pelt. Oh, the joys of country living. Better close and email this to Terri.

May you all stay safe, cool and well!

Val and The E7 Fjords

Greetings from Southwest Missouri

News from Southwest Missouri is good. After the cold and wet spring season, we had some really hot days. Grass was drying up and then it rained 3 inches on Thursday night. Everything got a good rain, including the hay that was cut down that day. Some sunshine and a good breeze, and hay baling happened today.

I have spent some time working with the 3 spring colts and was checking to see which ones were Fair worthy. We were making a little progress. Since then the fair has been canceled in Springfield. If you want to see the blue-ribbon winner, I guess you better come to the farm. This year would have been our 42nd year to show at the Ozark Empire Fair. It's always fun to see how your horse measures up to the others at the shows. This year it's not to happen. I guess we'll wait until next year and see how we do.

Our children grew up showing draft horses at Springfield, Ozark Empire Fair. Horse farming was a good place for kids to learn to work and show horses, and grow. And Ozark Empire Fair has been a good place for them to show off their skills. But the best part of the horse business has been the wonderful friendships we have made. Our children have some lifelong friends they met at the fair and grew up with, and still remain in contact with each other. We are all going to miss seeing our draft horse family.

Sorghum cane was planted in May. It has been growing pretty well, and if all goes well, we will plan to make some molasses this fall.

Our family news: Our daughter, Kelli has completed her treatment for breast cancer and is listed as cancer free. She is working to regain her former health following the year of chemo. Her oldest child graduated from high school this summer. All the grand children (5 of them) have been in the costume class 14 of the past 15 years. Well, not until they were a few years old, then they got to jump on board. We are busy with the usual family farm activities. This was not quite what I thought retirement would look like. I guess we'll wear out, rather than rust out.

From Witness Tree Land & Livestock Farm:

Let me start off by expressing my heartfelt condolences to the Radin family on the loss of their good mule, John. John and his teammate Bill made many a turn on the grain grinder at our event, as well as making MANY other appearances through the years, to the great delight of anyone watching. Rest easy, sweet fellow, you've earned it.

Here on the farm, there's (thankfully) not a whole lot to report, and I guess these days, that's a good thing. Still catching up on long-standing projects and goals. Many of these fall into the "F/R" (Fix/Repair) category. Some even qualify for the Super R category (Resurrect)

Those are particularly satisfying when completed. I know I am not alone in this warm, fuzzy feeling.

Speaking of warm & fuzzy, we have a new furry resident as of two days ago. Dennis found a domestic rabbit just sitting in the road not far from here, and worried that he/she would either get hit or become a snack for any local predator, he picked it up, put it in his truck and brought it home. Apparently, it was used to being handled, as it offered no resistance, and has settled right in to the hutch we have, enjoying the deluxe accommodations and grand view of the poultry yard. Dennis checked the houses around the area where it was found, but no one is claiming it. It really is a cute little thing, so I guess a name will be forthcoming.

The battle of flies on the horses (and cows) is now full-tilt. I absolutely can't stand to see flies on their faces. On the horses, I do a daily wipe-down of the entire face, and a complete spritz of the body, so that at least for a few hours they can have a little peace. There seems to be no one single solution to keeping them fly-free for any length of time. The closest I've come to finding something that works is "Endure". It seems to last the longest of any sprays I've tried thus far. I'm pretty sure the flies mutate from year to year just like a darned virus, so that what works one time won't work the next.

Ah, yes, virus. What can we say? If you didn't yet see the notice on Facebook, it is with no small amount of frustration that we must cancel our October event as a public venue. It was a no-win situation in light of the nature of the event and how we function to present it. This was the post: "Hey Friends, we have made the hard decision to cancel the Mid-MO Horse, Mule, & Ox Farming and Historical Crafts Days for Oct. 3 & 4, 2020, after weeks of deliberation and considering every angle...But that said, Dennis & I would still like to host a casual PRIVATE "plod, plow, or play" appreciation weekend just for teamsters, drivers, & drovers. Come & go as you want, use the field or driving paths as you like, bring teams or not, camp out or not, or just come, distantly socialize as you are comfortable, and have a meal. It would likely be the same weekend (Oct. 3 & 4), weather permitting of course. If this would be of interest, could you comment here or send me a private message?"

Again, this would be a NON-PUBLIC get-together similar to an association of field days. If you don't do Facebook, you can reply by e-mail at tenacity@fidnet.com to let me know. More details later on.

I guess I'll wrap this up. Hope everyone is doing well as can be, and hanging in there for brighter days.

Blessings to all!

Teamster Request for Supporting Heroes

I received the below email and after discussing this further with Kyle and Eric, they would like to setup a list of teamsters with a team of draft horses willing to pull this unit in a funeral procession in your local area please contact Kyle and let him know what your travel range would be and your contact information so that they can compile a list of possible teamsters. Find them on their website (www.SupportingHeroes.org) or look them up on Facebook at Supporting Heroes. Please remember that your horses will have to be traffic, crowd and possible gunfire safe they are trusting you to transport their vehicle safely.

Thanks Robyn

Good morning,

My name is Kyle Smith and I work with an organization called Supporting Heroes. We assist families and public safety agencies following the line of duty deaths of police officers, firefighters, and EMS workers throughout Missouri, Indiana, and Kentucky.

We recently acquired a caisson to carry fallen police officers to their final resting place. However, we are looking for some assistance from organizations like yours to help in the utilization of draft horses to pull the caisson.

Additionally, and while I will not know until late today, there is a chance that we will be asked to bring the caisson from Louisville, Kentucky to Maysville, Missouri for the funeral of Dekalb County Sheriff Andy Clark. Sheriff Clark died tragically in a vehicle accident during a response on Wednesday. We anticipate that the funeral will be on Tuesday June 9th.

Could you please have a representative from your organization call me at the cell number listed below?

Thank you and I look forward to hearing from you.
